Holt International and Lifeline Children's Services

AGCI has Agreements with both Holt International and Lifeline Children's Services for adoption services. AGCI provides these agencies' websites to families for post support services and resources. All services provided by these agencies are paid directly by families. AGCI has no financial or familial relationship with these agencies.

Lifesong For Orphans

AGCI refers families to Lifesong for Orphans for resources and support, as well as financial resources. In the past, Lifesong for Orphans has provided AGCI with a grant titled Every Child Matters to provide AGCI financial resources for waiting child advocacy.

Show Hope

AGCI refers families to Show Hope for resources and support, as well as financial resources. Show Hope has partnered financially with AGCI's International Programs to support AGCI's work in foreign countries.

Brittany's Hope

AGCI refers families to Brittany's Hope for financial grant assistance as prospective adoptive parents pursue intercountry adoption. Brittany's Hope has provided many AGCI families with financial grants for their adoption process. In the past, AGCI has provided financial support to Brittany's Hope to support their organization and the wonderful work they do in helping families adopt.
